

Shane Jacobson, comedian

When were you happiest? If you see me laughing, I'm happy. And I laugh a lot.

Which living person do you most admire? My partner – because she puts up with me.

What is the trait you most dislike in yourself? My tendency to listen to The Carpenters.

What is the trait you most dislike in others? Jealousy. And the fact that not enough people listen to The Carpenters.

Who would play you in the film of your life?
Peter Helliar or my brother

What would you most like to wear to a costume party?
I would paint myself red, sit down on the floor in a ball and be Uhuru.

What is your guiltiest pleasure? Cheese and salami. As well as stealing plums from my neighbour's tree, which I did yesterday.

What is the most important lesson life has taught you?
Patience ... and I learnt it in a hurry.

Tell us a secret. The proud photo that my mum has of me in a family photo album at seven years of age, holding the very first fish I'd caught – it's a lie. Sorry mum. I didn't catch that fish, my friend did, and I swapped him the fish for four sinkers. Everybody got so excited and started taking photos – it had gone too far. I couldn't fess up at that point.
